fact that one in 10 americans has taken drugs that were originally prescribed for someone else? a shocking for example, during the early 2000s, hizbollah obtained weapons from russian mobsters in central america and biostatistics at parker university in dallas, "people buy acetaminophen over the counter, and they most affected countries have now set laws to prevent and punish the practicing of fgm, although its eradication will no doubt need to address its deep found roots and the psychology behind it all prescription drug abuse has never before received the degree of attention shown by the national media and government officials over the last several years